Green Country Low Impact Development Design Competition

What is this?

A multidisciplinary team competition to design development sites using Low Impact Development (LID) techniques

Why participate?

LID can lower the cost of development, improve the aesthetics of the development, improve water quality and control stormwater quantity. It's the responsible way to build!

Developer benefits?

Developers will have the opportunity to view professional designs for chosen sites that will yield greater profit and positive exposure for their development.

Public benefit?

Green Country will be seen as a leader in educating and promoting sustainable development practices.
